

Manufacturing and Transportation Technology

TAS 101

- Students taking this course will develop hands on skills working with industry machines to build projects, as well as repair and service industry
- Students will understand different pathways in the trades that are important to today's society

